NEWS ADVISORY U.S. ARMY AVIATION & MISSILE COMMAND

NOT FOR RELEASE

AMCOM commander meets, speaks with Future Soldiers

REDSTONE ARSENAL, Ala. – Maj. Gen. Todd Royar, the commander of the U.S. Army Aviation and Missile Command, will meet with Future Soldiers (those who have or are about to enlist, and haven't attended basic training yet).

WHAT: In support of National Hiring Days, Maj. Gen. Todd Royar will meet with 30-40 Future Soldiers to discuss why these young men and women are joining the Army and to answer their questions about military service.

WHEN: June 7, starting at 9:30 a.m. Media interviews with Maj. Gen. Todd Royar, Staff Sgt. Jeremy Henry, Recruiter, and 30 to 40 Future Soldiers.

WHERE: Heiser Hall on Redstone Arsenal (Media escort required).

Note: Meet Public Affairs escorts at Redstone Arsenal Gate 9 Visitors Center no later than 9 a.m. RSVP by emailing: usarmy.redstone.amcom.list.amcom-pao-all@mail.mil.

Background: The U.S. Army kicked off its second annual nationwide hiring campaign with a goal of recruiting 1,700 new Soldiers to serve in 150 different occupations. The Army National Hiring Days is an all-Army effort to inspire individuals across the nation to "Join Us."

Maj. Gen. Royar is joining the 2nd Recruiting Brigade recruiters to encourage young men and women in our community to learn more about Army careers.

B-roll opportunities include Maj. Gen. Royar and Staff Sgt. Henry speaking to the Future Soldiers and activating with the Future Soldiers.

The U.S. Army Aviation and Missile Command develops and delivers responsive aviation, missile and calibration materiel readiness to the United States Army in order to optimize joint warfighter capabilities at the point of need.
